

Transformative Research Call 2014: Applications recommended for funding

The Commissioning Panel recommended funding of 12 grants, which all have a maximum limit of £250,000 (100 per cent fEC) and run for 18 months.

- Buying abortion through the internet: exploring the social harm of criminalising abortion in Northern Ireland and the UK
Ms Goretti Horgan, University of Ulster
- Networked Creativity in London's Hubscape: Digital Entrepreneurs in Search of Value and Systemic Change
Dr Tuukka Toivonen, School of Oriental & African Studies
- Post-disclosure survival strategies: Transforming whistleblower experiences
Dr Kate Kenny, Queen's University of Belfast
- After Money: If you change the representation of value, does it change the values that you can represent?
Professor Chris Speed, University of Edinburgh
- Networks, Externalities and the Adoption of Improved Sanitation Solutions in Urban Slums
Dr Roland Rathelot, University of Warwick
- Good germs, bad germs: A participatory model for mapping the domestic microbiome
Professor Jamie Lorimer, University of Oxford
- Anarchy as constitutional principle: Constitutionalising in anarchist politics
Professor Ruth Kinna, Loughborough University
- Transforming Public Policy through Economic Democracy
Professor Andrew Cumbers, University of Glasgow
- Hi-tech observation of playground social communication trajectories in children (HOPSCoTCh) Dr Jenny Gibson, University of Cambridge
- Understanding Household Finance through Better Measurement
Dr Annette Jackle University of Essex
- Using new technologies to enhance the value of qualitative data in longitudinal studies: an application to health and well-being, and ageing
Professor Alissa Goodman, University College London
- Using "naturalistic dual-EEG" to measure mother-infant brain-to-brain (b2b) synchrony in socially-mediated learning
Dr Victoria Leong, University of Cambridge